Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350

Exploration

Enchantment

You may play an additional land each turn.

The first explorers found Argoth a storehouse of natural wealth—towering forests grown over rich veins of ore.

Illus. Brian Snōddy

©1993–1998 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. 250/350