Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249

Onyx Goblet {2}

Artifact

{T}: Target player loses 1 life.

The goblet was a gift from the sphinx Gorael, who hoped humans and vedalken would eventually destroy each other to acquire it, leaving all of Esper to her own kind.

rk post

™ & © 1993–2008 Wizards of the Coast, Inc. S1:249