

Stone Golem

5

Artificer Creature — Golem

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

— Martina Pilceroova

4/4

Stone Golem

5

Artifact Creature — Golem

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

—Martina Pilceroova

4/4

Stone Golem

5

Artificer's Edge

Artifact Creature — Golem

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

Martina Pilcerova

4/4

Stone Golem 5

Artifact Creature — Golem

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

Martina Pilcerova

4/4

The image shows a Magic: The Gathering card for 'Stone Golem'. The top border is grey with the name 'Stone Golem' in a bold, serif font on the left and a large number '5' in a circle on the right. The main art area features a golem made of stone and metal, with red glowing eyes and mechanical components, standing amidst a fiery, explosive background. The artist's name 'MARTINA PILCEROVA' is visible in the bottom right corner of the art. Below the art, a grey border contains the text 'Artifact Creature — Golem' on the left and a small 'MTG' logo on the right. A large text box in the center contains the flavor text: 'The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.' Below this, the artist's name 'Martina Pilcerova' is written. The bottom right corner has a grey tab with the power/toughness '4/4'.

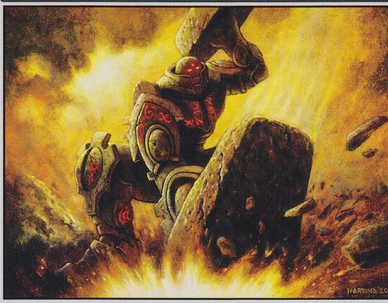

Stone Golem 5

The illustration depicts a large, mechanical stone golem with a humanoid form, composed of various stone and metal components. It is shown in a dynamic, powerful pose, appearing to be in the process of being activated or awakened. The golem's body is covered in intricate mechanical details, including gears, pistons, and reinforced plates. It is surrounded by a bright, intense yellow and orange glow, suggesting a fiery or magical energy source. The background is dark and smoky, with some debris floating in the air. The overall style is highly detailed and dramatic, typical of Magic: The Gathering card art.

Artifact Creature — Golem

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

4/4

Stone Golem	5
 A dynamic illustration of a Stone Golem, a large, rocky creature with a humanoid form, emerging from a fiery, volcanic landscape. The golem is composed of dark, jagged stone with glowing red, gem-like eyes and joints. It is shown in a powerful, lunging pose, with its right arm extended forward. The background is a bright, orange-yellow sky with swirling smoke and fire, suggesting a recent eruption or battle. The overall style is dramatic and high-contrast.
Artifact Creature — Golem
The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts. — Martina Pilcerova W & P 1993-2010 Wizards of the Coast LLC 215/249 <table border="1" data-bbox="432 2040 505 2067"><tr><td>4/4</td></tr></table>		4/4
4/4

Stone Golem

5

PAULROM/EDC

Artifact Creature — Golem

MY11

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

—Martina Pilceroва

4/4

© & © 1993–2010 Wizards of the Coast LLC 215/249

Stone Golem

5

PAUL ROY

Artifact Creature — Golem

4/4

The sculptor, like most artists, put his heart and soul in his work. But the newly awakened golem decided he wanted his creator's other, more tangible parts.

— Martina Pilceroova

© & © 1993–2010 Wizards of the Coast LLC 215/249